So I am doing the following: = button_to " Add New List", :remote => true, :method => :create, :action => 'create', :id => "new_list_button" This all works fine. I can open the link in a new browser tab. Then if I try to POST the form, I get this error: NoMethodError in Leads#create Showing /home/rails/Github/.app/views/leads/new.html.erb where line #1 raised: undefined method `leads_path' for #:0x7ff6e4b05828> Extracted source (around line #1): 1: { :class => "form-vertical" } do |f| %> 2: 3: "fields", :locals => { :f => f, :lead => @lead } %> 4: I am not sure why this is getting an undefined method leads_path. There is obviously a problem with my "create" method not calling in the right way, but I cannot figure out what it is. My "create" method in the Leads controller looks like this: def create @lead = Lead.new(lead_params) @lead.user_id = current_user.id respond_to do |format| if @lead.save format.
